I overheard classmates in high school talking marriage and starting families after graduation and new I wouldn't be ready for that kind of servitude for a very long time. I attended Grossmont College for a couple of years, worked and then moved to Ocean Beach where I met an OB native and all his friends. We played and partied and I worked for Union Carbide. Four years later I had to fire this BF. Then I met "the most amazing man in the world". He was a Harley riding ex Aviator Captain, Marine Biologist, Photographer and had worked for Scripps on the Glomer Challenge. Very popular in his large group of friends he entertained everyone with his endless pirate rimes and jokes. It was the life style , living in Mission Beach and working at Balboa Electric that made me stay in this relationship for about eight and a half years until again I had to fire another boyfriend. With not enough time to my self I met Terry Casner who at the time was a warm smiling face across the bar working at Tugs Tavern who I married 3/82. We has two boys who lit up my life. We were together for twelve years until he died from cancer in 1997. Very happy to become the captain of my own ship I moved to Temecula with my boys and then met my current husband Steve Kirchner.

I solely own seven rental units at this time that bring in a great income and sometimes work and problems. My son Chris 30 and Nick 27 are still single.

We may move back to the beach because there's just no life east of I-5.
