I went to SDSC for a year before marrying Army Lt. Mike Duffy. We were stationed in Alaska for four years where we had our first two sons. Living in Alaska was an adventure.

We returned home to San Diego where Mike joined the police dept. I returned to work as a recreation supervisor for both San Diego and Santee and we had our third son.

Our lives were filled with kids' activities, camping trips, boating and skiing. With our three sons we built a log cabin in Utah, which our family still enjoys.

When Mike and I retired he got his pilot's license enabling us to travel more including a trip to Ireland.

Though I've lost Mike to cancer I'm surrounded by good friends and family. I have ten grandchildren. I still play tennis and travel every chance I get. Life is good!
