I attended San Diego State, and Cal State LA studing art and design. I married Rev Dr. John Westfall in 1971 and we have a son Damian who is 36. He and his wife Annie have 2 kids: Zachary 5, ad Ariel 9. In 1985 I started using my art with a fabric focus, I designed and created quilts to sell at fairs and craft shows. I won several honors at Del Mar Fair and the Los Angle Expo. I branched out writing how-to quilt books. My first proposal was accepted. To date I've written 12 books of my own and contributed to 20 more. A great honor and surprise was finding one of my books carried by the Smithsonian book store. I took a new turn in 2011 and earned two certificates in writing at the University of Washington. I am presently working on a book for teens called, "Nobody Dies at Disneyland." I lie in the Pacific Northwest.
