

Thomas E. McClanahan
321 Plymouth Pass Dr.
Lexington , SC 29072

803 520-6090

tom@csdincsc.com

After attending Grossmont College and San Diego State, I married Jackie Furbush (class of '66) in 1970 and managed an office for 9 doctors before starting my own computerized medical billing company in 1973. We were lucky enough to be able to travel through Europe with friends for a couple of weeks during the Munich Olympics in 1972, and have enjoyed taking multiple vacations including cruises to the Caribbean and Canada and visiting many US cities. In 1978 we moved to South Carolina to open a restaurant (ex-Denney's) with my in-laws, which we operated until 1985. I then worked as MIS Director of Manufacturing for Campus Sportswear until they went out of business in 1990, at which time I started another business selling and installing point-of-sale software and hardware until I retired at age 62. We are still enjoying South Carolina and live across the street from - believe it or not - Lake Murray (South Carolina's version) with over 500 miles of beachfront. We have two grown children and two wonderful grandsons (ages 5 and 3), and since they all live here in Lexington we see them often.

